How We Support Children with Special Educational Needs or Disabilities

Our vision and how we hope to achieve it: 'Working together in faith, hope and love'

At Burdett-Coutts Primary School we aim to provide a calm, stable and caring Christian environment which encourages children to develop as responsible citizens. We want every child to feel secure and able to take advantage of the all available learning opportunities.

We aim to nurture a love of learning in our pupils and develop their key skills and personal qualities such as team work, creativity, flexibility and thoughtfulness. We want all our children to become able and inspired learners.

We offer a fully inclusive environment and welcome applications from all, including pupils with disabilities.

Our Ofsted rating

Burdett-Coutts CE Primary School is a good school.

Ofsted, December 2014

SEN Information Report 2018-19 (formerly the Local Offer)

1. How we know if a child has special educational needs

- Each child is known as an individual and their progress is monitored carefully.
- Pupil Progress Review meetings are held weekly in age phases – any concerns about a child's progress are raised here, including the possibility of them having special educational needs, and appropriate action is taken immediately. Termly Pupil Progress meetings are also held with the Assistant Headteacher for Assessment and each class teacher to go through every pupil's progress and attainment in more detail, and to flag difficulties or needs following formal end of term assessments.
- Screeners and assessments are used by the school to identify special educational needs.
- Assessments from outside agencies may be sought to give a clearer picture of the child's needs and how best to support them.
- We currently have, or recently have had, children on roll with a range of special educational needs, including speech language and communication needs; autism; Downs Syndrome; global development delay; specific learning difficulties; social, emotional and mental health needs. Provision for pupils with all kinds of special educational needs and disabilities is made in line with our inclusive SEND Policy and Accessibility Plan.
- Pupils are placed on the school's SEN register if they are identified as having special educational needs as defined by the 2014 Code of Practice, and are categorised within at least one of the four broad areas of need: Cognition and Learning; Communication and Interaction; Sensory and/or Physical; Social, Emotional and Mental Health.
- If you are concerned about your child and think they may have special educational needs you should speak to your child's class teacher. If you continue to have concerns then please contact Mrs E. Camplin, the school's Inclusion Manager. She is available to meet on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

2. What we do to help children with special educational needs

- We carefully plan the special educational provision at Burdett-Coutts school and tailor this to each child's individual needs.
- We have a provision map of the interventions and programmes that are normally available in each year group.
- The quality of our teaching is good, and class teachers are expected to have an understanding of how to meet the special educational needs of their students. Each teacher has copies of all relevant reports and assessments to enable them to plan and deliver appropriately for each pupil in their class.
- Each child with special educational needs has their own Individual Education Plan which is reviewed at least three times a year. This outlines what the class teacher should be doing on a daily basis to support your child, together with any special groups, resources or equipment that the child needs and up to 4 SMART targets.

- Pupils who have an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP) often have an allocated teaching assistant who is chosen to work with them, based on the particular skills and training they have had.
- The Inclusion Manager (Mrs Camplin) and class teacher will monitor your child's progress and ensure any additional provision they receive is helping them make the best possible progress.

3. How we adapt our teaching for children with special educational needs

- We know that children learn in different ways and we adapt and enhance our curriculum accordingly. For example:
- We use symbolised texts to assist children's understanding of texts and topic vocabulary.
- English and Mathematics tasks are adapted for pupils that need this.
- Pupils may work in smaller groups or individually with an adult. This will often be under the direction of the Speech Therapist, Occupational Therapist or Advisory Teacher.
- Timetables and lesson length are sometimes adapted to help pupils who may find it hard to concentrate for long periods of time. Movement breaks are built in to sessions for those children who need them.
- Children may have the use of a laptop or iPad to enhance opportunities to record their work or give them additional and different learning experiences.

4. How we decide what resources we can give to a child with special educational needs

- We allocate our resources according to need.
- If your child has an EHC Plan then we will discuss the options available for your child, both within school and offered by the local authority.
- Decisions about the allocation of resources are usually made at annual review meetings and if your child has an EHCP you will be invited to a review meeting to discuss the provision and outcomes at least annually.
- Any specialist equipment, facilities or resources required for the effective teaching of a pupil with SEND, whether at the School Support stage or with an EHCP, will be secured by the school within the limits of what would be deemed 'reasonable adjustments'. Sometimes this may be provided by the Local Authority through Contingency Funding or an EHCP request.

- All interventions are carefully evaluated to ensure that they offer best value for money and are effective for our students.

5. How we check that a child is making progress and how we keep parents informed

- We monitor children's progress very carefully throughout the year.
- All pupils are involved in setting their own targets and know what they need to do to make progress.
- Pupils' opinions and views are also sought through weekly School Council meetings, which include pupils with SEND from across the school, and special School Council forum sessions focused on aspects of teaching and support that impact particularly on pupils with SEND.
- Parents are invited into school formally three times a year to discuss their child's progress and a written report is provided at the end of the Spring Term, with a written summary towards the end of the school year.
- Parents play a key part in their child's learning and we therefore think that having easy, open lines of communication with parents is important.
- Teachers are usually available for informal chats after school or are happy to offer before- or after-school appointments.
- For some children with special educational needs we provide daily feedback to parents either in person or by using a home/school communication book.

6. Support we offer for children's health and general wellbeing

- We aim to provide all our children with a safe, caring and nurturing environment.
- We invite children to their review meetings and always seek their views on what things they think will help them and anything that might be worrying them.
- We have a Learning Mentor who works with children who are experiencing emotional issues and who is experienced in helping children whose behaviour can be challenging in school and at home.
- We also buy into services from the Anna Freud Centre and run a weekly multi-family therapeutic group and 1:1 sessions with children and families.
- We buy into Roundabout Dramatherapy so we can offer 1:1, paired or small group weekly sessions with a therapist who works confidentially with children using stories and role play.

SEN Information Report 2018-19 (formerly the Local Offer)

- If children are having difficulties at playtimes we can set up a 'circle of friends' with them to ensure they have the best possible playtimes. We also have a 'quiet area' available at lunchtimes for pupils who prefer this.
- At Burdett-Coutts we have a full-time welfare assistant who is able to administer prescribed medicines to children with the permission of the parents.
